

'Proof' Flying Saucers Spy on

HE SAW A STRANGE DISC-SHAPED MACHINE
A Fiery Spray From Saucer's Turret Burned the Arm of Scoutmaster D. S. Desvergers

COAST GUARD PHOTO OF 'FLYING SAUCERS' OVER SALEM, MASS.
Marine Writer Says Scores of Sightings of Saucers Are Evidence That This Country
Is Under Observation by Aircraft From Outer Space

Largest Evening Daily Circulation in the Entire West

2 FRONT
ND PAGE

LOS ANGELES EVENING
HERALD EXPRESS
AMERICAN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
1243 TRENTON STREET, ZONE 54
International News Service, Associated Press, United Press, Dow-Jones

PHONE RICHMOND 4141

VOL. LXXXIII Three Sections
Section B

MONDAY, OCT. 5, 1953 H 10 CENTS NO. 165

Earth Told

'IM GOING DOWN TO EARTH, DEAR'
An Artist's Conception of a Mars Tourist Taking Off for a Trip to Earth

Many Disc Sightings, Hush-Hush Data Told

By DARSIE L. DARSIE

Are you susceptible to hysteria and does the mere thought that we here in Los Angeles may be under observation by space ships from other planets give you the creeps?

Or are you one of the sceptics who smile fatuously at the mention of flying saucers?

At any rate, in the National Press Building, in Washington, D. C. this morning Major Donald E. Keyhoe, U. S. Marine Corps (retired), author of "Flying Saucers From Outer Space," published by Henry Holt, held a press conference, presenting to writers and foreign correspondents evidence to prove his conclusions that the scores and scores of sightings of flying saucers are evidence that this country is under observation by aircraft from outer space.

He has worked closely with the U. S. Air Force Project Bluebook, investigating flying saucer sightings, and from Intelligence has obtained the release of hush-hush reports hitherto unpublished because they could cause nation-wide fear.

*Reports Saucers 'Buzzed' White House

These releases mark a departure in Intelligence policy, indicating a desire to inform the public so that if one of the saucers should make a landing the people would not see in it cause for hysteria.

He says that the Air Force has motion pictures of saucers in flight, that Air Force Radar has tracked flying saucers at speeds above 7000 miles an hour, and that for some hours a formation of flying saucers hovered over Washington and actually "buzzed" the White House.

We quote from his book. "On the afternoon of Jan. 7, 1948 a huge, round, glowing object was sighted by hundreds of people at Madisonville, Kentucky... State police estimated it to be at least 250 feet in diameter... Thirty minutes later it appeared over Godman Air Force Base not far from Fort Knox... As it hovered over the field, after nately glowing red and white, Captain Thomas Mantell, flying a F-51 passed over and was asked to investigate. "Climbing through broken clouds, Mantell called the field: "I've sighted the thing... It looks metallic and it's tremendous in size... Now its starting to climb... It's still above me, making my speed or better... I'm going up to 20,000 feet..."

(Continued on Page B-3, Col. 1, 2)

Evidence of Flying Saucers Existence Told

(From Second Front Page)

Meets Death

Watching 'Saucer'

"Minutes passed. The tower called Mantell but there was only silence... Later that day Mantell's body was found near the wreckage of his plane. One witness said the plane seemed to explode in mid-air..."

"On July 24, 1948, two Eastern Air Lines pilots, Captain C. S. Chiles and First Officer John B. Whited told how at 2:45 a. m. as they were flying near Montgomery, a brilliant cigar shaped craft came hurtling toward their airliner... 'It was heading southwest' Captain Chiles said, 'and it flashed toward us at terrific speed. We veered to the left. It veered sharply, too, and passed us about 700 feet to the right.' Both pilots saw two rows of windows and noted an intense blue glow from inside... The speed of the craft was between 500 and 700 miles an hour..."

These reports are a matter of record... But even more fantastic is the report Intelligence released to Major Keyhoe of an encounter in the woods near West Palm Beach on Aug. 19, 1952.

Tells Strange Encounter in Woods

We quote:

"Scoutmaster: D. S. Desvergers and three scouts were riding home from a meeting when they saw strange lights in the woods. Leaving the boys in his car, Desvergers went to investigate... Two minutes later the Scouts saw a reddish-white ball of fire. It came from about the height of the trees and seemed to slant down toward the spot where Desvergers had last been seen. When the Scoutmaster failed to return one of the boys ran to the nearest house and phoned for the sheriff... Just as the sheriff arrived, Desvergers came out of the woods, apparently badly frightened and on the verge of exhaustion. He had reached a clearing, he said, when he realized something was hovering above him... Pointing his flashlight upward, he saw a metallic disc-shaped machine about 25 feet in diameter. An instant later the saucer's turret opened. Then a fiery spray shot out at him, scorching his arm and burning his hat. When he got to his feet after lying dazed a few minutes, the saucer was gone..."

"The scoutmaster's arm was curiously reddened, his hat was burned, and the sheriff found a small, scorched area..."

Crash 'Foreign Object' in Skies

These are but three of the stories, but there are others, such as the statement that the crash of a transport plane just out of Calcutta, India, with the death of all "came after collision with an UNIDENTIFIED FOREIGN OBJECT"— was burned, and the sheriff cleared by Air Force Intelligence.

The reassuring part of it all, Major Keyhoe concludes, is that in all of these sightings there is no indication that the flying saucers were observing us with hostile intent.

But after reading the book when you see a shooting star racing across the horizon you will with good cause wonder if it may be but the glowing forward portion of a flying saucer.

Dairy Beebe 29 —
Mystery of Light Flashes Baffles

1021

Strange Aerial Objects Seen Off Coast

SEQUOIA - KINGS NATIONAL PARKS (UP) — A celestial display of weird flashes of bright yellow light appeared to have a ball at light along the middle fork of the leading end, but all agreed on Kaweah River near Moro Rock the bright yellow color and the fact the light moved from north has created a mystery which has fact the light moved to south. Park officials and residents baffled. Park Superintendent E. T. Scoyer said the phenomena occurred four nights last week and were reported seen by more than a dozen persons, some as far away as Visalia. Scoyer gives this account of one of the flashes.

Wednesday and Friday nights Some of the witnesses said the light appeared to have a ball at the leading end, but all agreed on the bright yellow color and the fact the light moved to south. One observer in Visalia said the light appeared to be at least 20,000 feet in the air. Scoyer said the flash he and his wife witnessed sped directly over his house at a low altitude. Fern Gray, telephone operator at bark headquarters at Ash Moun-

"My wife and I were sitting on the terrace of our home at Ash Mountain Saturday night when we heard the drops of heavy rain, reported all the lights which had been mysteriously knocked down during the Friday night flash.

The cause of the flashes?" Scoven said he just doesn't know. It is conceivable the lights could be caused by explosions, he declared, and "there wasn't a sound accompanying the flash." He also ruled out a meteorite theory because of the regularity of the appearances.

Two mysterious aerial objects were sighted about 14 miles west of Seal Cove, San Clemente Island, yesterday, Long Beach Coast Guard head-quarters was notified by a fishing boat skipper.

Capt. Brooks Hurst, 4349 Stewart Ave., Venice, told of the occurrence by radio telephone. He said the objects, silver-colored and oblong, changed course at almost right angles while traveling at high speed then hovered over his craft, the Connie Mack.

When his attention was distract ed momentarily, Capt. Hurst said, the two objects disappeared. Coast Guardsmen placed the report in the un-

'Voice from Space' Panics New Yorkers

NEW YORK (UP)—A telephone caller claiming to be "from outer space" interrupted a local radio show this morning and sent the listening public into one of the biggest spins since Orson Welles panicked the country with his "Men From Mars" broadcast 15 years ago.

The caller's warning to "Earthmen" to cease preparations for war "or your planet will be annihilated" sent hundreds of panicky listeners to their telephones to try to find out what they had heard. New York telephone company officials immediately placed tracers on the call.

Jinx Falkenburg and her husband, Tex McCrary, were interviewing Maj. Donald E. Kehoe (Ret.) of the U. S. Marines about his new book "Flying Saucers From Outer Space" on their breakfast show at the Waldorf-Astoria when they received the call through a hotel switchboard.

Keyhoe immediately denied that he was in any way responsible for the call. McCrary assured radio listeners that he and his wife were not responsible. Henry Holt & Co., Keyhoe's publisher, also disclaimed responsibility, adding that "we would never consider such a stunt to obtain publicity."

Miss Falkenburg answered but became too hysterical to converse with the caller. She turned the call over to McCrary who inadvertently held the phone close to the microphone. Listeners heard a thickly accented voice speaking in rapid, grammatical English.

The caller said at first he was calling from a space ship over Los Angeles. He later said he was "now" over Salt Lake City.

The gist of the call was this: "This is a voice from outer space. I warn you Earthmen to stop talking about flying saucers, about bombs and preparations for war, for unless you learn to live in peace your planet will be annihilated. I know this because I am in a position to see and you are not. I am reaching you with difficulty. You cannot see me, and you could not bear the sight if you did. It would be hideous."

The Waldorf switchboard was so jammed with calls for several hours after the broadcast that it took 10 minutes to place a call at the hotel. NBC telephone operators also reported "a flood of calls." Many of the callers expressed anger over "that kind of a hoax" and others wanted to know if the call was "real."

Earthly prowlers are giving Trumain Bethurum, 519 N. Gertruda Ave., Redondo, considerably more trouble than the persons from outer space whom he meets occasionally in the Nevada desert.

In seeking local police aid last night, Bethurum explained that representatives of an author of flying saucer articles have been trying to obtain two original messages that he received from the space ship.

He added that when he left Redondo recently to go back to the desert in another attempt to contact the ship, two men apparently followed him and waited at a Nevada restaurant trying to find out about the ship.

Bethurum, who deals with the persons from another planet unassisted, asked that a prowler check by his home frequently to protect him from his nearer neighbors.

His asserted visits to a space ship from the planet "Clarion," attracted widespread interest two weeks ago following publication in the Daily Breeze of an article by Reporter John Moon.

Reporter Moon wrote of Bethurum's asserted encounter with the space ship and its crew in the space ship and its crew in the Nevada desert and set off a veritable torrent of phone calls and letters to the Breeze.

Dinner at 2:30 - Oct 7-53

SKYWAYS

Flying Saucer Mock-up Ready

BY MARVIN MILES, Times Aviation Editor

LITTLE by little, into is slipping out on the "flying saucer" project of A. V. Roe, Canada. In secret progress for about a year, the Avro development has reached the mock-up stage, we hear. Called the Omega because it resembles the Greek letter, the saucer—as indicated by the $60,000 mockup—will be about 40 feet in diameter, with the pilot enclosed in a plastic center cockpit.

One source tells us the craft's jet engine will revolve around its vertical axis, to gain gyroscopic stability. Air intakes will be in the leading edge of the ship and exhaust in the rear. The jet probably would be augmented by rocket boost.

Expected performance, northern reports say, includes exceptionally high speed and ability to turn sharply without banking. Wonder if the Air Force or NACA are at all interested?

'Flying Disc' Nearly Swept Him Off Road, Says Driver

ENID, Okla., July 30 (AP)—A photographic supply salesman told police he was almost swept from the U.S. Highway 81 and completely highway last night by a huge "flying saucer" which swooped low at terrific speed. Sid Eubanks, 50, Wichita, Kan., sure nearly threw my automobile told his bizarre tale to Desk Sgt. Vern Benell, who said the man was still trembling when he walked into the police station.

Eubanks said the mystery object, appearing as a "yellow-green, thin round ball when directly over him.

U. S. Continues 'Saucer' Check

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Spotted by radar in the Washington area during the past 10 days into flying saucer reports, but it's certain of one thing: The official news conference yesterday seems—whatever they are—don't to tell what it knew—or thought interested? States. Most of the sightings traced to date have turned out to be natural phenomena.

A flurry of reports that scores of unidentified objects had been seen, of relatively incredible things

—so we keep on being concerned about them." Of the one-fifth for which there is no explanation, Maj. Gen. John A. Sanford, intelligence director said: "No pattern has ever been found that reveals anything remotely like a purpose or consistency that can in any way be associated

(See Page 2, Column 1)

DOES EARTH HAVE MANY TINY MOONS?

Myriad Dull Spheres, One Foot to 100 Feet in Diameter, Thought to Be Circling Globe

BY WILLIAM S. BARTON

Myriad dull spheres ranging in size from one foot to more than 100 feet in diameter are believed to be forever circling the earth outside the atmosphere at altitudes between 10,000 and 240,000 miles (the distance of the moon).

Existence of these dark objects is suspected by some scientists, including civilian researchers for the United States Army Ordnance Corps. A systematic search for the tiny moons has been started at Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., by Clyde Tombaugh, discoverer of the planet Pluto.

At 55 S Grand Ave., Pasadena, West Coast headquarters for the corps to which we look for our present and future weapons, you may learn about several basic research projects undertaken primarily to increase the Army's store of knowledge. The greatest of all new weapons, including the A-bomb, resulted from this indirect approach.

Projects Explained

Dr. James Edson, part of whose duties include supervision of ordnance basic research in nine States, explained the Lowell Observatory and other projects.

Tombaugh is searching the skies for these heretofore never-seen objects with the aid of a special 8-inch Schmidt telescope. You could say that he has initiated the first space patrol for the Army between the earth and the moon.

He has a tough job. Because, for one thing, these small dull hypothetical objects, traveling so close to the earth, are expected to make blurs on photographic plates. To find them, the astronomer must divide the distance between earth and moon into a series of shells. One of his first tasks is to calculate the velocity of objects which haven't been seen. It's something like tracking invisible bugs, but techniques employed by artillery to track enemy planes may be helpful.

Mile a Second

Speeds of the supposed objects are estimated at more than a mile a second. An arbitrary table indicates that the 8-inch Schmidt should just be able to see a 100-foot-in-diameter sphere at the distance of the moon. It also should photograph a 42-foot-in-diameter object at an altitude of 100,000 miles and a 50-inch-in-diameter object at a height of 10,000 miles.

The small Schmidt telescope would photograph a V-2 rocket at an altitude of 25,000 miles. The great Schmidt telescope on Palomar would photograph one of these rockets at the distance of the moon.

Dr. Edson says that any of these objects found at a distance of 26,390 miles above the center of the earth would duplicate the earth's rotational speed of around 1000 miles an hour. Thus, such an object might hover indefinitely over a particular part of the earth.

Exciting Event

"If Tombaugh," he asserted, "finds even one of these objects, it will be exciting. We shall immediately alert all observatories to try to calculate the object's orbit. Indirectly at least, this project should help the Ordnance Corps.

"The effort should help in increasing the efficiency of our guided missiles and help in the search techniques for enemy missiles. But it also should supply some new data regarding the origin of the solar system and the probable cost of establishing stations in space."

An artificial meteor project, supported by the Ordnance Corps, is under way at the University of Utah. It is directed by Dr. M. E. Van Valkenburg. Made of aluminum slugs, the artificial meteors take off and leave tracks consisting of shock waves. The meteors are white hot, but the shock waves are being studied with radar. The slugs travel at two miles a second and their activity makes interesting comparisons with natural meteors possible.

Image Can Be Distorted

In one of the Ordnance-sponsored basic research tests, radar is bounced between rough ground and clouds of charged particles in the ionosphere at altitudes of 30 and more miles. The results have proved interesting because they shed light on how these clouds may distort the image of a guided missile as seen by radar.

Research done for Ordnance by Dr. Otto Struve, University of California astronomer, has necessitated the revision of the theory of turbulence in the atmosphere. His observations and study of fuzzy spectra suggest they are caused by explosions in the atmosphere of stars. The fact that some of the turbulence gyrates at speeds faster than sound may prove of value in designing supersonic jet missiles. Most of the explosions, Dr. Struve thinks, result from atomic disturbances in the stars.

One of the other basic projects Dr. Edson can talk about is the fixation problem being studied by Dr. Irving Maltzman, a UCLA psychologist. Fixation of interest to too great an extent makes certain persons inept for certain critical jobs. For example, some airplane pilots may fix their attention so hard on a target that they become hypnotized and fail to pull the plane out of the way of another aircraft. Drivers of automobiles may become so hypnotized by a long straight stretch of highway that they fail to see traffic about to cross the road.

A similar fixation problem may interfere with creative work. A talented man may build up a great store of knowledge in his head, but fail to realize that this store of information has put him in a cage. Again, a football quarterback may get a fixation on running through the line and forget to take advantage of a great passing opportunity.

'Cosmic Clock' Fed

"The crank," Dr. Edson says, "has no censor. But the highly trained man may need a censor to encourage relaxation."

One of the Ordnance researchers at UCLA has a bottle of liquid which gives off flashes of light. He feeds this liquid into a "cosmic clock."

This clock measures the time between flashes turns out to be a tenth of 1,000,000,000th of a second. This shows how long mesons, nuclear particles which compose some cosmic rays, live. Despite their brief lives, mesons, thought to be the "glue" that holds matter together, may portray a new picture of the universe through such experiments.

PHANTOM PUNCTURED?

Were Viewers Left Limp By Night-Flying Blimp?

WILMINGTON, Feb. 15 (UPI)—If anyone doubts the word of Horry County Farmer Lloyd Booth when he says he saw strange lights in a strange object in the sky last Jan. 29, they can quit questioning, says C. W. Hall.

Hall, an employee at the Civil Aeronautics Administration, control tower at Bluetenthal field here, says he's positive Booth saw just what he says he saw but just didn't know what it was.

Booth said he left his house that night when he heard his mules braying, chickens cackling and ducks quacking. It was about 11:15 p.m., he said, and he took a .22 pistol along.

By the light of a full moon he saw a strange object hovering above the tops of nearby pine trees.

Booth said the object moved by a pace slower than a human's fast walk and made a low humming noise. He tried to rouse folks in his house nearby but they were asleep.

"I went directly into the woods, easily catching up with the object," Booth said.

TOOK GOOD LOOK
"I walked under it, around it and viewed it from all sides," he said. "It was about 24 feet long and about 12 feet across, was a light grayish color and was lit up on the inside.

"Two places in the front resembled strange cockpits and were glassed over. I could see the light inside but could see no object in there. The back also had something resembling a cockpit with a stained glass over it. Light was coming through this section but I could not see through it.

"The object was eight or 10 feet deep. The front sloped upward at the base at an angle of 40 to 50 degrees. The sides came straight outward and joined the base at about a 40 degree angle."

Booth said the overall streamlined effect was something like half an egg cut from end to end.

"I heard a bullet hit the object. It made a metallic sound and just bounced off. I fired again but did not hear the bullet hit. A bare instant later, the object began making considerably more noise and took off at a high rate of speed at about a 65 degree angle. It kept that same course until it was completely out of sight."

Hall chuckles when he thinks about Booth shooting at the "object."

"There's no question in my mind but that Booth saw a navy blimp. I came on duty that night at midnight and about 2 a.m. saw two blimps northbound from Glynn, Ga., to Weeksville, N.C. A third was about 30 minutes behind them. That would make the time just about right for Booth to have seen one about 11:15.

"I particularly remember the night because there were three northbound and three southbound blimps passing within 20 miles of here."

"And Booth's description of the object he saw fits exactly how their gondolas look at night.

"That night," he recalled, "the northbound blimps were bucking a high headwind and whereas they normally operate at about 500 to 600 feet, they were hugging the tree tops. In fact, I had to send one around the airport because it was coming in so low over the end of the runway.

"I'll bet the fellas in that blimp decided really to get out of there fast when Booth began shooting. Wouldn't be at all surprised but what, if you went up to Weeksville and looked, you might find a dent in the bottom of one of those gondolas where he shot at it."

MARION RESIDENTS BAFFLED

Mysterious 'Flying Lights' Leave Carolinians Puzzled

(See story on page 8A about Horry County farmer shooting at an egg-shaped object).

MARION, S. C., Feb. 14 (AP) — Mysterious flying lights, sighted three times within 15 days in coastal Carolina skies, had Marion residents puzzled today.

They were the last witnesses to see the lights as they hovered strangely overhead last night. Were the lights real, or just an optical illusion? Were they natural phenomena, meteors streaking through the sky or vapor trails of high-flying aircraft? And was there a logical, connected pattern to the three incidents?

Many in this rich tobacco-growing country were inclined to dismiss them without too much thought when the first report of their sighting was made in neighboring Horry County. But the Marine Corps reported at Cherry Point N. C., Wednesday that one of its jet planes had chased—and then lost—a redlighted object flying at least at an altitude of about 1,000 feet. That made feet. They lost it. But later, when people compare stories. And then on the Mullins Highway, they saw last night the lights popped up the object hovering over a house here.

At least six Marion residents saw the lights during a three-hour period. They were Horace W. Hennecy, a line foreman for the Marion Electric Co-op; Grady Lewis, Lewis Sr., his son John Lewis Jr.; a newspaper correspondent, Elwynn saw a group of at least 12

Paige and Mrs. Bobbie Smith, a green and yellow lights arranged housewife.

Mrs. Smith was the first to report seeing the object—whatever it is—to move, first slowly and then with a burst of speed. It disappeared in the northeast after they had chased it along the highway at 70 miles

6:30 p. m. She reported the incident because, she said, it made her think that a plane was crashing in the area. She was riding in a car at the time and said the object had a bright white light on it. About the same time newspapers received reports that a meteor had been sighted by an Air Force plane near Wilmington, N. C., about 100 miles east of Marion.

But sometime later, Hennecy, the electric co-op foreman, heard that a plane or meteor had fallen near the co-op's substation so he, accompanied by Grady Lewis, went to check the area to see if any of the REA's property had been damaged.

Hennecy gave this account:

While he and Lewis were driving jet planes had chased—and lost—lost—a redlighted object flying at least at an altitude of about 1,000 feet. They lost it. But later, when people compare stories. And then on the Mullins Highway, they saw last night the lights popped up the object hovering over a house here.

About two miles and got directly under it.

The object, when first sighted, was distinguished by a bright yellow light but when they got under it the light went out and they then a green and yellow lights arranged in a diamond shape. After they were under it, the object began to move, first slowly and then with a burst of speed. It disappeared in the northeast after they had chased it along the highway at 70 miles an hour.

John O. Lewis Jr., the newspaper correspondent, said he, his father and Paige had seen the lights about 9:30 p. m. near the spot where Hennecy and Mrs. Smith had reportedly seen them. Hennecy discounted the Lewis' belief that the object was a blimp or a jet plane because, he said, it cruised too slowly at times and then too fast at other times.

The first report in this area was made by Lloyd Booth, a Horry County farmer, who said he shot at and hit—an egg-shaped object, with lights inside, late on the night of Jan. 29.

The next incident was the Marine Corps report Wednesday. It said that 1st Lt. Ed Balocco, 24, of Antioch, Calif., had chased and lost a mysterious lighted object, reported seen by at least two other Marine Corps pilots, and a farmer, along the North Carolina coast, near the highway. They drove about 150 miles from here, Feb. 9.

Balocco described the object as the color of white heat and said "it threw out a red glow behind it." He said it outdistanced him easily, despite the fact that his jet was doing better than 500 miles an hour.

BOOTH STILL SAYS HE SHOT IT Odd Death Of Cows Linked With Horry's 'Flying Egg'

By W. HORACE CARTER

CONWAY, S. C., Feb. 14.—For more than 200 years people have of the house, the chickens began reported seeing mysterious flying squawking and a pen of ducks simple objects of various colors, designs by went wild with excitement and speeds, but it remained for On the previous night, Wednesday, Lloyd C. Booth, Horry County, S. C., country store operator, to actually get a shot at one.

In the last three years, these having been perfectly healthy the strange objects of space have been evening before. Thinking perhaps sighted frequently and by hundreds some prowler had poisoned animal and that perhaps he was of persons in the United States. Some reported sightings have back for more mischief. Booth had died mysteriously. The been proven hoaxes. Some have grabbed his .22 calibre pistol and turned out to be conventional air- ran to the barn.

craft that we mistaken for something unusual. And yet many reports are still unexplained, even a manner as similar to daylight as after the U. S. Air Force completed it ever gets on a fair night with an exhaustive "Operation Saucer" a full moon. The eclipse had long involving months of study and investigation.

Indications now are that Mr. Booth's story is also going to be investigated and that Washington can be expected to visit and him momentarily.

DIFFERENT STORY His story is vastly different and hovering "only 10 feet above from those of the past. He didn't see the tree tops," was a floating object he observed it at tree top height for more than 20 minutes and accidentally hit it with a shot from a .22 calibre, blunt-nosed pistol.

Booth's story took shape on the night of Jan. 29, a Thursday, and aircraft which most people the date of an announced eclipse are familiar. This was none of the moon. Booth runs a country store and service station on Highway 701, about eight miles north of Conway. He keeps his business open until about 11:00 p. m., as like a balloon. It was moving no store and a short distance off the highway. He arrived there about 11:15. His mother had left his supper prepared for him; so he put on a pot of coffee and sat reading his paper until the coffee heated. A few minutes later, one of his father's mules began causing a commotion at the barn. Booth says he didn't think too much of it because the mule was easily excited anyway. However, in a moment, the other mule began neighing. "Now that mule is hard to frightened and is always quiet. I knew something was bothering them," Booth said.

"I walked directly under the object. I got in front of it, behind it and on both sides. I was trying desperately to find some lettering or mark of identification which might clear up the mystery. But there were no markings whatsoever. I'm sure because I could see every bit of it at one time or the other except for the very top of it, of course," he said.

DUCKS WENT WILD

animal and that perhaps he was shocked three feet across and there was a full moon lit up the countryside in ports as still unexplained, even a manner as similar to daylight as after the U. S. Air Force completed it ever gets on a fair night with an exhaustive "Operation Saucer" a full moon. The eclipse had long involving months of study and investigation.

Indications now are that Mr. Booth's story is also going to be investigated and that Washington can be expected to visit and him momentarily.

DIFFERENT STORY His story is vastly different and hovering "only 10 feet above from those of the past. He didn't see the tree tops," was a floating object he observed it at tree top height for more than 20 minutes and accidentally hit it with a shot from a .22 calibre, blunt-nosed pistol.

Booth's story took shape on the night of Jan. 29, a Thursday, and aircraft which most people the date of an announced eclipse are familiar. This was none of the moon. Booth runs a country store and service station on Highway 701, about eight miles north of Conway. He keeps his business open until about 11:00 p. m., as like a balloon. It was moving no store and a short distance off the highway. He arrived there about 11:15. His mother had left his supper prepared for him; so he put on a pot of coffee and sat reading his paper until the coffee heated. A few minutes later, one of his father's mules began causing a commotion at the barn. Booth says he didn't think too much of it because the mule was easily excited anyway. However, in a moment, the other mule began neighing. "Now that mule is hard to frightened and is always quiet. I knew something was bothering them," Booth said.

UNFAMILIAR CRAFT

"The 'flying saucer' was almost

slightly resemble them. UNFAMILIAR CRAFT

"The 'flying saucer' was almost something that had been in the news for months, Booth had the immediate prompting to call for help. "I hollered to the house, hoping to wake my parents and bring them to the scene but even after saw the object was a light, greyish color faster than a slow walk of a man. Closing his store that night, he could see it plainly and could determine, the other mule began said. Realizing that he was perhaps getting the best view in history of something that had been in the news for months, Booth had the immediate prompting to call for help. "I hollered to the house, hoping to wake my parents and bring them to the scene but even after himself still. It seemed to be drifting along the date of an announced eclipse are familiar. This was none of the moon. Booth runs a country store and service station on Highway 701, about eight miles north of Conway. He keeps his business open until about 11:00 p. m., as like a balloon. It was moving no store and a short distance off the but lit up on the inside," Booth said.

"I walked directly under the object. I got in front of it, behind it and on both sides. I was trying desperately to find some lettering or mark of identification which might clear up the mystery. But there were no markings whatsoever. I'm sure because I could see every bit of it at one time or the other except for the very top of it, of course," he said.

SAW OPENING

"There was no visible means of support for the craft. It had no propeller. I could see no exhaust, no vapor trail, could detect no unusual odor and could just barely hear a humming noise coming from it."

During all this observation, Booth was constantly walking into the woods, keeping abreast of the object. He says that he was flowing it for at least 20 minutes, perhaps as much as 30. At any rate, after seeing apparently all there was to see, Booth pointed his pistol at it and fired.

HEARD BULLET HIT

"I heard the bullet hit it. It made a metallic noise and bounced off. I immediately fired again but did not hear the bullet strike because almost instantaneously with the first shot, the object began making a much louder noise, like a big electric motor, and took off at a rapid rate of speed at an angle of about 65 degrees. It traveled much faster than any aircraft I have ever seen before and went completely out of sight at the same angle from which it started," Booth said. He pointed out that the noise it made could have been heard at his home if some one had been listening for it, although it might have been taken for a truck or fast car on the highway.

Booth is aware of the many hoaxes that have been perpetrated about flying saucers. This awareness almost kept him from even saying anything about the object he saw. But when he returned to the house, his parents had heard him shoot and began to inquire. Booth told them the whole story and a week later he casually divulged his tale to a lifelong friend and neighbor. From there the story broke to the public in five weekly newspapers published in this area.

WORD UNQUESTIONED Mr. Booth is not an individual whose word is usually questioned. Nor has it been questioned in this instance by those who know him well. He is 29 years old, does not drink, is a member of the Poplar Methodist Church and is known throughout the Adrain-Poplar section of Horry County as an "honest Christian man."

Rev. Elwell Jones is about the same age as Booth. They attended school together and lived in the same section for many years. Rev.

Jones is pastor of the Carolina Baptist Church in Horry County and he has this to say of Booth, "I have known Lloyd Booth all my life. I have known him to be a good Christian man and when he says he saw something, he did."

A neighbor backed up the preacher's statement with "Lloyd Booth is of good character and a truthful man. I have never known him to misrepresent anything."

Booth had nothing to gain from a hoax. He never made any effort to get his story into print. He didn't even mention signing the object to anyone other than his own family for a full week after the incident, and then only as a passing thought until he was prodded into the whole story.

Booth's story has been accepted by the vast majority of people in this area as authentic, with no plausible explanation of just what the thing was.

A rather unusual number of cows have died in the county this year, some definitely diagnosed as having died from some type nitrate poisoning. A record number of dogs have died throughout Horry and adjoining counties, some of these believed to have suffered from a similar poison.

Specimens from vital organs of at least one cow have been sent to Alabama Polytechnical Institute, Auburn, Ala., for laboratory analysis to determine cause of death.

No veterinarian will hazard a guess that any of these deaths have any relationship to the "flying saucers" but the possibilities have been injected into every crossroad a conversation, particularly so because the animals have died suddenly without any apparent symptoms of illness.

'FLYING EGG' HUNTER AND PISTOL

Lloyd C. Booth is shown in his country store in the Adrain-Poplar section of Horry County, S. C., where he related his story of observing a mysterious flying object at tree-top level more than 20 minutes on the night of Jan. 29. Booth said he took a shot at the strange craft with the .22 calibre pistol lying on the counter, but that the bullet bounced off with a metallic ring. He said the "saucer" then zoomed away at double speed. (Photo by Bill Oakley)

4.000 "tefat" sedda Jagande pilot omkom

De hitills iakttagna flygande tefaten utseende uppges variera från långa, cigarliknande salter med eldsvans till lysande svagt kypade plattor. Så här lycks emellertid den amerikanske "standartmannen" te sig för en häpen iakttagare enligt teknaren Beverloo.

1963. Av BERTIL SVAHNSTRÖM

PARIS 22 dec. — (ST) De flygande tefaten, var komme de ifrån?

Det finns många svar på den frågan, de flesta ungefär lika trovärdiga, eller kanske rättare sagt lika osannolika. Somliga säger: De flygande tefaten kommer från Sovjetunionen. Andra vet hättre besked: De är amerikanska! Andra åter har livligare fantasi: De flygande tefaten kommer från en annan värld. En mänsklighet på Venus eller Mars spionerar på oss.

Ännu andra iakttagare säger: De flygande tefaten, det är helt naturliga fenomen, som dramatiseras — meteorer, flygplan, ballonger, eller rena ljusreflexer. Och så har vi de verkliga skeptikerna, som förklarar: De flygande tefaten existerar inte. De är rena fantasifoster, atomålderns flygande storsjöodjur, resultatet av masshysteri.

Vad ska man dra för slutsats av alla dessa svar om inte att de flygande tefaten är alla tider största mysterium.

Men det är inte ett mysterium som utan vidare kan häftas till kategorin hallucinationer, som vissa Mariauppenbarelser, eller till kategorien skepparhistorier, som Münchhausens berättelser, eller förklaras som utslag av naturens nyckfullhet, som kalvar med sex ben.

Och dock, alla elementen finns där. Låt säga att de flygande tefaten till 30 proc. består av hallucinationer. Det är rent av mycket tröligt att så är fallet. Låt säga att ytterligare 30 proc. är rena rörarhistorier. Det är nästan oundvikligt. Låt säga att där finns vissa procent naturfenomen, egendomliga men likvälförklarliga. Till sist kommer man ändå fram till att mellan 10 och 20 proc. av vittnesmålen är av sådan natur, att deras trovärdighet inte kan ifrågasättas!

EYE-WITNESS:

Redondoan Tells of Visiting Space Ship

By JOHN MOON

There's a man in Redondo Beach who says he has been aboard a flying saucer 11 times. What's more, he plans to take a flight in it to a distant planet next time he sees the lady captain and makes arrangements.

That trip, when arranged, will take Truman Bethurum, 55, of 519 N. Gertruda Ave., Redondo Beach, to the planet Clarion.

Bethurum has been promised a space flight to the far distant planet by the captain of a flying saucer, Aura Rahnes, with whom he became acquainted last year.

Mrs. Rahnes, who said she had two grandchildren back on the planet Clarion, told Bethurum the trip through space would take "about two nights," in other words, about 48 hours.

Bethurum says he struck up the acquaintance with the lady captain of the flying saucer in June, 1952, while he was working on a road-building job near Mormon Mesa. Mormon Mesa is located on Highway 91 in Nevada about 70 miles from Las Vegas.

But for full details of Bethurum's experience on the flying saucer we'll start from the beginning.

Bethurum's Own Story

Here, then, is Bethurum's story as told to a Daily Breeze reporter. Before he began the story, however, Bethurum assured the reporter he was "not a drinking man" and that he had "never been in a straight jacket or confined in any institution."

In June of 1952 Bethurum began work for E. E. "Whitney" Edwards, an old friend, who was boss of a road job being done by the Wells Cargo Construction Co. near Glendale Junction, Nev.

Work was pretty well "aught up," recalled Bethurum, and he was transferred to a position as night mechanic on the water trucks.

One night, either on Saturday or Sunday of July 26 or 27, Bethurum had finished his work and decided to visit a nearby hilltop because he heard the ocean once covered it and left deposits of sea shells.

It was about 3:30 a.m. when he parked his truck and used a flashlight to hunt for sea shells.

He had no success during an hour or so of searching, so he returned to the truck and slept awhile.

Suddenly he was awakened by a "mumbling around the truck." The muttering was unintelligible.

Bethurum looked out to the window and saw "eight to 10 small men, all about 4 feet 8 inches to 5 feet high." They were not dwarfs but fully developed men, said Bethurum.

'You Name It'

The strange men made no effort to molest him. Bethurum said he was afraid to attempt a getaway. He sat still in the truck cab.

One man spoke to him in a foreign tongue. Bethurum shook his head, indicating he could not understand.

Then the small man said:

"You name it,"

It was perfect English, recalled Bethurum, who answered:

"My God, you can speak English, too!"

"We have no trouble with any language," replied the man.

Bethurum then climbed out of the truck and stopped, awe-stricken.

Inside, he met the woman captain, Aura Rahnes. He described her as having a "slender" Latin type face. She wore a "radiant red skirt, black velvet shorts with red trim."

He went into her lounge and talked.

The woman captain said she was not known by people on earth by another name—such as Mars. About Mars: She said it was populated and contained atmosphere, industry and homes. She said the people on Mars did not have to have any special breathing apparatus.

At that time Bethurum became aware that the Clarionites from the flying saucer did not need breathing apparatus.

Calls Them 'Sows'

The woman captain, said Bethurum, explained it was only referred to as "sows" because they were called "scows" by the flying saucer he contacted in June of 1952 in the Nevada desert. Since then he has been bombarded with all types of scientific fiction and literature on the outer spaces.

(Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

ELEVEN VISITS TO A FLYING SAUCER—Are claimed by Truman Bethurum, (above) 519 N. Gertruda Ave., Redondo Beach. Bethurum, 55, who is pictured with his wife, Mary, told a Daily Breeze reporter of 11 visits aboard a flying saucer he contacted in June of 1952 in the Nevada desert. Since then he has been bombarded with all types of scientific fiction and literature on the outer spaces. (Daily Breeze photo)

DRAWING OF SPACE SHIP—Shows dimensions of flying saucer from the planet Clarion, reportedly seen by Bethurum last year. He said the "scow" appeared to be made of burnished stainless steel. It measured 300 feet in diameter and was 18 feet thick at the center. It contained a crew of 32 men and a woman captain. The rough drawing shows exaggerated thickness. (Daily Breeze photo)

The eleven visits to the space ship averaged about 30 minutes apiece, said Bethurum. No ill effects were suffered, he said, except his pocket watch soon stopped running.

Bethurum was told the planet Clarion was similar to earth t

Redondoan Tells Story Of Visit to Space Ship

(Continued from Page 1)

cently that "scows" could land on earth.

Scows were the names she used instead of flying saucers, said Bethurum.

The captain said there were many scows, each holding a 32-man crew and a woman captain. She said the scow she was visiting was the "admiral scow."

Bethurum noted the woman's conversation "seemed to rhyme."

Yes, the captain knew of our atom bombs, said Bethurum.

When the first of the 11 visits to the space ship and interviews with the woman captain ended, Bethurum went back to the job.

There he met his boss, Edwards, who asked if that "was Joe's plane that landed."

When Edwards learned the object that landed was not a company plane, airliner or private plane, he kept asking what it was.

Finally, Bethurum told him, Edwards, although he admitted seeing something land, said:

"Now I know you're crazy."

Bethurum recalled that his heart "beat so hard" for the next day or so that he thought he would die.

He even left a note in his room stating that if he were found dead it would be from heart trouble due to extreme excitement.

The fellows on the job took the story, when Bethurum finally told them, with a mixture of disbelief, belief and shrugs of the shoulders.

Wife Frightened
His letter home to Redondo and to his wife, Mary, frightened her.

During his work at the Glendale, Nev., site, Bethurum continued to make contact with the flying saucer. He also saw the ship in flight. He said the scow did not spin in flight. It took off in any direction and was noiseless.

At night a "sort of fluorescence" could be seen along the rear of the ship as if from air disturbance.

The captain told him the spaceship flew because the Clarionites had solved the problem of "magnetic force," Bethurum thought.

The space ship, when parked, "seemed to tilt up on one edge" according to the captain, but Bethurum said he did not see any.

Finally, Bethurum's story spread about the area in which he was working. People tried to bombard him with scientific fiction stories. He replied he had never read any and didn't "want to start now."

His boss, Edwards, signed a statement that he had seen the space people after an episode in Glendale, Nev., restaurant. Bethurum and Edwards went into a restaurant for coffee and pie. Suddenly, Edwards jabbed Bethurum with his elbow, saying "aren't those the people you were talking about?"

Said Mrs. Bethurum:

"Some of the aviation experts said that my husband knew too much about construction of space ships to have made up the story."

In August the Bethurums were taken up into the Mojave Desert by a group which has been attempting to make contact with a space ship.

Bethurum, who hadn't seen any customers enter the otherwise empty cafe, saw the woman captain and one of her men. Then the waitress approached and asked if the man and woman were from the space ship.

Edwards Stands Guard

Edwards, who frankly admitted he was a little frightened, went outside the cafe and stood watch on the door when Bethurum said he was going to talk to the pair. However, the man and woman got who ordered beef sandwiches and orange juice, were evasive. Bethurum's attempt at conversation was thwarted and he returned to his seat. Then the waitress approached and told him the man had a scar "penciled" on his face.

Bethurum continued eating and staring. The man and woman got up and walked around the slot machines in the cafe. Suddenly, they were gone. The waitress did not remember if they paid or not.

Bethurum sprang for the door and found Edwards waiting outside. Edwards reported no one left the restaurant. The two men then sprinted around the cafe in opposite directions to see if they could see a car departing. They saw none.

During a later visit to the flying saucer, Bethurum asked the woman captain and disappearance and the evasiveness in the cafe.

She merely smiled.

The eleven visits to the spaceship averaged about 30 minutes apiece, said Bethurum. No ill effects were suffered, he said, except his pocket watch soon stopped running.

Bethurum was told the planet Clarion was similar to earth in that colors and textures were different. Clarion has animals just as does earth.

However, the captain told him there were no such things as priests, lawyers, guards at banks, and child delinquency on Clarion. The Clarionites, he was told, do not use liquor or tobacco.

No Weapons
Bethurum reported seeing no weapons on any of the Clarionites or on the space ship.

He was told that Clarionites are "very religious" and worship the "Supreme Entity," that sees all, knows all and controls all.

When Bethurum returned home to Redondo Beach and to his wife, Mary, he was informed he should keep quiet about his adventure. His wife, who now believes her husband's story, was afraid of what their friends would think.

But eventually, the story leaked out.

Since then all sorts of literature and scientific data on the outer space have arrived unsolicited at the Bethurum home.

Also, scientists and all types of persons have visited the Bethurum home for talks. It was visits from well educated persons, said Mrs. Bethurum, "that caused me to start believing."

Said Mrs. Bethurum:

"Some of the aviation experts said that my husband knew too much about construction of space ships to have made up the story."

In August the Bethurums were taken up into the Mojave Desert by a group which has been attempting to make contact with a space ship.

Bethurum also has visited Professor George Adamski of Palomar Gardens and compared notes with him. Bethurum, who said Adamski lives at the foot of the mountains that boasts of the world's most powerful telescope, adds that Adamski is supposed to have met and talked with people from flying saucers, supposed to have taken a picture of a flying saucer, and the picture is considered authentic.

The persons seen by Professor Adamski said Bethurum, were reportedly from the planet Jupiter who dropped in out of the sky to park their space ship near Desert Center, Calif.

Doesn't Seek Believers

Bethurum explains that many local persons believe his story, "although I never try to make anyone believe it. I don't care."

He said that one person accused him of being a Communist and giving secrets to the Russians.

That person, said Bethurum, threatened to send a few rifle bullets into his truck if he ever saw it parked alongside a desert road.

Bethurum, who said he came down with asthma following work on the Davis Dam, plans to leave on the Davis Dam, plans to leave for the desert and regain his health. He said "he was going to leave this week."

So, if persons reading this story have any questions, don't try to query the Daily Breeze or Bethurum, who probably will be "somewhere in the desert."

Just read the book that Bethurum plans to write with the aid of a friend who is adept with a typewriter. Bethurum did not disclose when the book would be published.

He saw a flying saucer parked about 75 yards away from his truck. It looked like burnished stainless steel.

Bethurum said his heart was thumping so hard "I thought I was going to die."

However, he shook hands with all the "friendly" men and asked if their captain was around. The spokesman for the group volunteered to escort Bethurum to the captain, and led him toward the parked space ship.

Meanwhile, Bethurum looked around and saw the short men were "Latin types," that is, with complexions "something like Italians." All were neatly dressed in uniforms similar to those "worn by Greyhound bus drivers."

All had coal black hair and dark eyes. They had beautiful skin—skin which contained no wrinkles or blemishes.

The Space Ship
The spokesman for the group took hold of Bethurum's right arm. While holding the arm gently, said Bethurum, the man seemed to "have me in his power completely. He gave the impression of great strength."

Soon the group arrived at the space ship. Bethurum described it as being made of some type of metal. He learned that it measured 300 feet in diameter and was "six yards deep in the center." A 3-foot metal rim with beveled edges surrounded the saucer-like ship. The rim, said Bethurum, was about 2 feet thick. The ship had "no rudder or stacks."

They entered the ship through a large wide door that Bethurum es-

Redondo Beach Man Tells Visits to Strange Planet

Visitors From Strange Planet Seemed Friendly

(Continued from Page 1)
gan work for E. E. "Whitey" Edwards, an old friend, who was boss of a road job being done by the Wells Cargo Construction Co. near Glendale Junction, Nev.

Work was pretty well caught up, recalled Bethurum, and he was transferred to a position as night mechanic on the water trucks.

One night, either on Saturday or Sunday of July 26 or 27, Bethurum had finished his work and decided to visit a nearby hilltop because he heard the ocean once covered it and left deposits of sea shells.

It was about 3:30 A.M. when he parked his truck and used a flashlight to hunt for sea shells. He had no success during an hour or so of searching, so he returned to the truck and slept awhile. Suddenly he was awakened by a "thumping" around the truck.

The thumping was unifigible.

Bethurum looked out the window and saw "eight to 10 small men, all about 4 feet 8 inches to 5 feet high." They were not dwarfs but fully developed men, said Bethurum.

* You Name It *

The strange men made no effort to molest him. Bethurum said he was afraid to attempt a getaway. He sat still in the truck cab. One man spoke to him in a foreign tongue. Bethurum shook his head, indicating he could not understand.

Then the small man said: "You name it." It was perfect English, recalled Bethurum, who answered: "My God, can you speak English, too?"

"We have no public with any language," replied the man. Bethurum then climbed out of the truck and stopped, awestricken.

He saw a flying saucer parked about 75 yds away from his truck. It looked like burnished complextions "something like Italians." All were neatly dressed in stainless steel.

ELEVEN VISITS TO A FLYING SAUCER—That is the claim of Truman Bethurum, Redondo Beach, pictured above with his wife Mary. He says he has made 11 visits aboard a flying saucer he contacted in June or 1952 in the Nevada desert. Since then he has been bombarded with all types of scientific literature on the outer spaces.

Methurum said his heart was thumping so hard "I thought I was going to die." However, he shook hands with dark eyes. They had beautiful all the "friendly" men and asked skin — skin which contained no if their captain was around. The wrinkles or blemishes.

The Space Ship
The spokesman for the group volunteered to escort Bethurum to the captain, and led him toward the parked space ship.

Meanwhile, Bethurum looked around and saw three short men who were "Latin types," that is, with seemed to "have me in his power completely. He gave the impression of great strength."

Soon the group arrived at the space ship. Bethurum described it as being made of some type of metal. He learned that it measured 300 feet in diameter and was "six yards deep in the center." A three-foot metal rim with beveled edges surrounded the saucer-like ship. The rim, said Bethurum, was about two feet thick. The ship had "no rudder or stacks." They entered the ship through a large wide door that Bethurum estimated was 4½ feet wide and about 10 to 12 feet long. It was located atop the ship close to the metal rim around the edge.

Inside, he met the woman captain, Aura Raines. He described her as having a "slender, Latin type face." She wore a "radar red skirt, black velvet short sleeve blouse and a black beret with red trim."

He went into her lounge and talked.

The woman captain said she was from the planet Clarion, which could not be seen from earth even with "progressive magnification," which Bethurum interpreted as meaning by telescope.

She also said the planet was not known by people on earth by another name — such as Mars. About Mars: She said it was populated and contained atmosphere industry and homes. She said the people on Mars did not have to have any special breathing apparatus.

At that time Bethurum became aware that the Clarionites from the flying saucer did not need breathing apparatus.

Calls Them 'Scows'
The woman captain, said Bethurum, explained it was only recently that "scows" could land on earth.

Scows were the names she used instead of flying saucers, said Bethurum.

The captain said there were many scows, each holding a 32 crew and a woman captain took hold of Bethurum's right arm gently, said Bethurum, the man was the "admiral scow."

Bethurum noted the woman's conversation "seemed to rhyme" atom bombs, said Bethurum.

When the first of the 11 visits to the space ship and interview with the woman captain ended Bethurum went back to the job with the woman captain ended.

There he met his boss, Edwards, who asked if that "was Joe's plane that landed."

When Edwards learned the object that landed was not a company plane, airliner or private plane, he kept asking what it was. Finally, Bethurum told him Edwards, although he admitted seeing something land, said:

"Now I know you're crazy."

Bethurum recalled that his heart "beat so hard" for the next day or so that he thought he would die. He even left a note in his room stating that if he were found dead it would be from heart trouble due to extreme excitement.

Space Ships

The fellows on the job took the story, when Bethurum finally told them, with a mixture of disbelief, belief and shrugs of the shoulders.

Wife Frightened
His letter home to Redondo and to his wife, Mary, frightened her.
During his work at the Glendale New site, Bellingham continued to make contact with the flying saucer. He also saw the ship in flight. He said the scow did not spin in flight. It took off in any direction and was noiseless.

"cease." At night a "sort of fluorescence" could be seen along the rear of the ship as if from air disturbance.

had solved the problem of "magnetic force," Bethurum thought she meant gravitation.

Windows were in the space ship, according to the captain, but

The space ship, when parked, "seemed to tilt up on one edge," to make it easy for persons entering and leaving, said Bethurum.

Finally, Bethurum's story spread about the area in which he was working. People tried to bombard him with scientific fiction stories. He replied he had never read any and "didn't want

His boss, Edwards, signed a statement that he had seen the space people after an episode in a Glendale, Nev., restaurant.

Bethurum and Edwards went to a restaurant for coffee and pie. Suddenly, Edwards jabbed Bethurum with his elbow, saying, "aren't those the people you were talking about?"

Bethurum, who hadn't seen any customers enter the otherwise empty cafe, saw the woman capture and one of her men. Then if the man and woman were from the space ship.

Edwards Stands Guard

Edwards, who frankly admitted he was a little frightened, went outside the cafe and stood watch

He was going to talk to the pair. However, the man and woman, who ordered beef sandwiches and orange juice, were evasive. Bethurum's attempt at conversation was thwarted, and he returned to his seat. Then the waitress approached and told him the man had a scar "pencilled" on his face. Bethrum continued eating and earring. The man and woman got up and walked around the slot machines in the cafe. Suddenly, they were gone. The waitress did not remember if they paid or not. Bethurum sprang for the door and found Edwards waiting outside. Edwards reported no one

A black and white photograph of a person's hand holding a piece of paper. The paper features a diagram consisting of a vertical line and a horizontal line intersecting it. The word "300" is written vertically along the right side of the horizontal line. The background is dark.

DRAWING OF SPACE SHIP — This sketch shows dimensions of flying saucer from the planet Clarion, reportedly seen by Bethurum last year. He said the "scow" appeared to be made of burnished stainless steel. It measured eft the restaurant. The two men keep quiet, although they sprinted around the cafe in His wife, who was opposite directions to see if they could see a car departing. They saw none.

During a later visit to the flying saucer, Bethurum asked the woman captain about the strange appearance and disappearance and the evanescence in the cafe. Since then outer space has been studied at the Beechwood Observatory.

The 11 visits to the space ship persons have averaged about 30 minutes apiece, un home for said Bethurum. No ill effects were suffered, he said, except his pocket watch soon stopped running.

Bethurum was told the planet Clarion was similar to earth but that colors and textures were different. Clarion has animals just as earth does. However, the captain told him Said Mrs. B. "Some of them said that my ship to have

In August there were no such things as prisoners, lawyers, guards at banks, and child delinquency on Clarion. The Clarionites, he was told, do not use liquor or tobacco.

George Adams
Bethurum reported seeing no weapons on any of the Clarionites or on the space ship. He was told that Clarionites are very religious, and worship the most powerful deus and command him. Bethurum's ski lives at the station that boas

Supreme Entity, that sees all, that Adamski knows all and controls all." When Bethurum returned home to Redondo Beach and to his wife, Mary, he was informed he should meet and talk to Adamski, sa 300 feet in diameter and was 18 feet thick at the center. It contained a crew of 32 men and a woman captain. The rough drawing shows exaggerated thickness.

who dropped in out of the sky park their space ship near Deep Center, Calif.

Doesn't Seek Believers

Bethurum explains that most local persons believe his story "although I never try to make anyone believe it. I don't care what people say." He said that one person cussed him of being a Communist and of giving secrets to the J-sians. That person, said Bettum, threatened to send a few bullets "into his truck if he saw it parked alongside a dead road." Bethurum, who said he came down with asthma following an attempt on the Davis Dam, plans to contact with a space for the desert and regain health. He said he was going to leave this week.

of Palomar Garured notes with who said Adam-oot of the mounof the world's telescope, adds supposed to have with people from Bethurum, also close when the book was have taken a pic-published.

So, if persins reading this shave any questions, don't try query the Star-News-Vanguard Bethurum, who probably will
"somewhere in the desert."
Just read the book that Eurum plans to write with the of a friend who is adept with typewriter. Bethurum did not 卷之三

EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT

REDONDO BEACH MAN TELLS OF MANY VISITS TO SPACE SHIP

By JOHN MOON

There's a man in Redondo Beach who says he has been aboard a flying saucer 11 times. What's more, he plans to take a flight in it to a distant planet next time he sees the lady captain and makes arrangements.

That trip, when arranged, will take Truman Bethurum, 56, of 519 N. Gertruda Ave., Redondo Beach, to the planet Clarion.

Bethurum has been promised a space flight to the far distant planet by the captain of a flying saucer, Aura Rahnes, with whom he became acquainted last year. Mrs. Rahnes, who said she had two grandchildren back on the planet Clarion, told Bethurum the trip through space would take "about two nights," in other words about 48 hours.

Bethurum says he struck up the acquaintance with the lady captain of the flying saucer in June, 1952, while he was working on a road-building job near Mor-

Mesa. Mormon Mesa is located on Highway 91 in Nevada about 70 miles from Las Vegas.

But for full details of Bethurum's experience on the flying saucer well start from the beginning.

Bethurum's Own Story Here, then, is Bethurum's story as told to a Star-News-Vanguard reporter. Before he began the story, however, Bethurum assured the reporter he was "not a drinking man" and that he had "never been in any institution."

In June of 1952 Bethurum be-

(Continued on Page 13)

SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

At News No. 12

Canada Hopes to Solve '53 Flying Saucer Mystery

OTTAWA, Ont. (UPI)—The Canadian transport department has established "the world's first flying saucer sighting station" and officials predicted today it would put an end to the whirling disc controversy.

The new station was expected to be in round-the-clock operation within a few weeks at Shirley Bay, 10 miles west of here.

Scientists who will operate the station will try to find out if there actually are flying saucers. Equipment at the station includes an ionospheric reactor to determine the height, pattern and conduct of the ionized layer of gases in the atmosphere and changes in the intensity of gamma and X-rays.

There are also electronic devices to measure known and unknown radio noises and disturbances, a gamma ray detector and a new device known as a gravimeter to measure gravitational pull.

Alarm bells hooked to the station have been placed in the nearby ionosphere station where telecommunications experts are on 24-hour duty.

A report was expected from the observers at the station within the next year.

Government scientists have refused to say there are such things as flying saucers but they took the stand there was certain evidence that needed explaining. It was made known the defense research board was studying and investigating saucer reports.

Transport department personnel such as ship captains and weather observers have standing orders to report "objects."

1953

ENGLAND SEES SKY SAUCERS

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(NANA)—Great Britain's cautious war office tonight released a brief report that a "strange object" seen passing over the county of Kent November 3 was tracked down by an army radar set.

This is the first time an official report has been made in this country on the objects commonly referred to as flying saucers.

The mystery object was separately reported by two reliable service sources immediately after its observation November 3. The first report came from RAF flying officers T. S. Johnson and C. Smythe. From their Vampire jet at 20,000 feet, they saw an object much higher than they were—Johnson and Smythe estimated it to be around 60,000 feet—pass over at tremendous speed. It was circular, and was emitting or reflecting fierce light.

No sooner had the officers reported this observation to their air station than it was learned that the war office had a report on an object from a territorial army unit testing a radar set in southeast London.

Roach named two Americans, Prof. Adamski, who lives near Mt. Palomar, and Truman Berthram, formerly of Redondo Beach, whom he reported as having seen space ships land on this continent, and to have talked to the visitors. These men described the visitors as like ourselves, excepting more highly developed and using something like mental telepathy in foretelling incidents and selections of times to make landings.

One of the visitors said he was from the Planet Claria, on the opposite side of the moon from earth. Roach said there are three types of space ships used by visitors, and that apparently those space ships are used even for interchange of commerce between planets. Following the talk, Roach answered numerous questions, some of which asked why it is that "these things always seem to come through mediums, seances and table-knocking."

The speaker was introduced by dinner chairman Ed Bingham.

4 in Airliner Report Saucer Over Channel

B RITAIN'S Air Ministry was reported today investigating new reports of a flying saucer watched from the air for 30 minutes by two British airline pilots. The ministry named the saucer observers as Capt. Peter Fletcher and First Officer R. J. Lemon.

The two airline men were on a Paris-bound flight over the English Channel when they spotted the saucer. The day was so cloudless, smooth and unbroken and highly lit that they could see planes over Orly Airport 100 miles away.

FLYING at 13,500 feet, Fletcher and Lemon reported they noticed ahead another craft flying at 20,000 feet. They said the craft had LONDON, Oct. 18.

London investigating the appearance of two shallow saucers with their rims together. The top reflecting surface was too smooth and unbroken and highly lit to be polished. The craft appeared to be hovering stationary.

Believing their strange neighbor might be a trick of light, the British called to the pilots' seats

All four said the saucer, if such

Space Ships Come in Three Types, Saucer Devotee Says

DAILY NEWS, NEW YORK, NOV. 20/53

Flying saucers are space ships from other planets, Bill Roach, member of Spheres, Inc., a group of 25 young scientists who are interested in the phenomena, last night told 134 men of All Saints Episcopal church and guests at a dinner meeting.

Roach named two Americans, Prof. Adamski, who lives near Mt. Palomar, and Truman Berthram, formerly of Redondo Beach, whom he reported as having seen space ships land on this continent, and to have talked to the visitors.

These men described the visitors as like ourselves, excepting more highly developed and using something like mental telepathy in foretelling incidents and selections of times to make landings.

One of the visitors said he was from the Planet Claria, on the opposite side of the moon from earth. Roach said there are three types of space ships used by visitors, and that apparently those space ships are used even for interchange of commerce between planets.

Following the talk, Roach answered numerous questions, some of which asked why it is that "these things always seem to come through mediums, seances and table-knocking."

The speaker was introduced by dinner chairman Ed Bingham.

3 5* THE MIRROR—LOS ANGELES, WED., NOV. 18, 1953

Hubby Kidnaped by 'Disc,' Wife Fears

(STORY, PAGE 3)

THE

MIRROR

TURF RESULTS

RED STREAK

Vol. VI—No. 33

68 Pages

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1953

6*

MA-2311—145 S. Spring, Los Angeles 53

PLANE VANISHES IN MYSTERY

Wife Fears Hubby in Flying Saucer Kidnap

BY CHARLES RIDGWAY, Mirror Staff Reporter

Two missing electricians may have been kidnaped by interplanetary invaders in a flying saucer, fears Mrs. Wilbur J. Wilkinson of 1933½ LeMoyne Ave., wife of one of the missing men.

The two flying saucer fans, Wilkinson and Karl Hunrath of 2315 S Flower St., took off in a rented airplane from Gardena Airport last Wednesday with a three-hour gas supply. Despite a widespread search, no trace of the plane or its occupants has been seen.

Wilkinson's wife told Mirror today that Hunrath was an avid believer in flying saucers. He and Wilkinson believed the end of the earth was nearing, and that strange little men from the planet "Maser" were ready to invade.

Hunt Saurer Hunnath claimed to know the whereabouts of a flying saucer recently landed. Wilkinson's den, in their rented hillside home, is lined with flying saucer pictures, weird signs and formulas, which his wife says were supposed to be the new interplanetary language.

"Of course, I don't quite go for all the flying saucer talk, but Karl had convinced Wilbur talked us into coming to California because he said he could actually show a flying saucer to Wilbur." Deputy sheriffs took a dim view of the "saucer kidnapping."

They warned Mrs. Wilkinson on the two missing men

Turn to Page 30

Udat - Huy - Dali

Enilk

Kau - Ma - Kau

Lesh - Lek

—MIRRORPHOTOS
FROM OUTER SPACE?
These weird symbols and words were found on wall of Wilkinson's home. Some have English words pen-ciled lightly beneath. In upper photo, "Lesthal," next to last line, is translated "Create Life." Lower, second line, "Xenpl-mau," has scribbled under it: "Poseid Returning." Third from bottom, "Josh-tan-marin," is translatable. Births give catastrophe."

into the recording business," his tearful wife told The Mirror. "He really didn't seem too interested in flying 'saucers' except when Karl Hunrath came around. Karl was the one who recently promoted to be in charge of the inspection department, Mrs. Wilkinson said.

The 38-year-old electrician has a den full of electronic equipment, radios and tape recorders.

"He was planning to go into the recording business," his tearful wife told

The Mirror. "He really didn't seem too interested in flying 'saucers' except when Karl Hunrath came around. Karl was the one who

Continued from Page 3
ing an argument with her husband the night before he disappeared, but insisted it had nothing to do with him leaving. "I just can't help but think flying saucers had something to do with it," she concluded.

from "Flying Saucers Have Landed," by Desmond Leslie and George Adamski.

A FLYING SAUCER 'MOTHER' SHIP?

Were missing fliers "kidnapped" in one?

WILBUR J. WILKINSON

One of missing men.

FLYING DISC KIDNAP FEARED AS 2 VANISH

Continued from Page 3
might be in for a prison term if it is shown they "stole" the plane. Mrs. Wilkinson admitted hav-

—MIRRORPHOTOS
FROM OUTER SPACE?
These weird symbols and words were found on wall of Wilkinson's home. Some have English words pen-ciled lightly beneath. In upper photo, "Lesthal," next to last line, is translated "Create Life." Lower, second line, "Xenpl-mau," has scribbled under it: "Poseid Returning." Third from bottom, "Josh-tan-marin," is translatable. Births give catastrophe."

Continued from Page 3
ing an argument with her husband the night before he disappeared, but insisted it had nothing to do with him leaving. "I just can't help but think flying
saucers had something to do
with it," she concluded.

Matt Weinstock

Opinion is divided on flying saucers

Strange, elusive things are going on up in the heavens but even under cold, scientific analysis, no one has any idea what they are.

That's the word from Albert M. Chop, who spent a year and a half with the Air Technical Intelligence Center at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, O., then two years on the Air Force press desk in the Pentagon.

Part of his work was handling intelligence reports on unidentified flying objects. Chop, now with the public relations staff at Douglas Aircraft in Santa Monica, left the Pentagon last February but his interest in UFO remains keen. He doesn't go along with the often-told tales of little green men from another planet being seen emerging from landed saucers. Despite rumors, no saucers or fragments of saucers, no bodies of these little men, have ever been recovered.

Nor does he go along with well-meaning mystics who report visions they interpret as flying saucers.

There is enough unexplained evidence without these.

SINCE 1946, WHEN the Air Force began paying attention to UFO, something like 4000 sightings have been officially reported. Donald E. Keyhoe, retired Marine major, states in his book, "Flying Saucers From Outer Space," that 80 per cent of the 1952 sightings and 90 per cent of the 1953 sightings were solved as balloons, planes, atmospheric reflections or hallucinations. Chop, who figures prominently in Keyhoe's book, sometimes unhappily out of context or in a misleading inference, questions the high percentage of these figures.

Pentagon opinion on flying saucers is sharply divided. Some officers remain unshaken in their opinion that no such things exist. Others are just as positive, as is Keyhoe, that they are interplanetary.

Every sighting is scientifically analyzed, to separate the hallucinations from the real. The ATIC doesn't talk out loud about it but they can spot a phony at a glance. The fact remains that 10 per cent or perhaps more of the sightings remain unexplained.

HOW, ASKS CHOP, CAN YOU write off as a mirage an object that appears on a ground radar screen, then is seen being chased by a jet interceptor equipped with radar, then maneuvers at speeds up to 5000 mph, making sharp angle turns that are impossible in any craft that engineers can conceive?

About 7:30 p.m. Dec. 29, 1952, an Air Force radar base in northern Japan received a call from a B-26 crew that it had sighted a UFO—a cluster of red, white and green lights. Fifteen minutes later an F-94 pilot radioed he had sighted the same object. Col. Curtis Low, commander of a fighter-escort wing, overheard the call and three minutes later he sighted the object and went after it. He switched off his lights to avoid canopy reflection, climbed to 35,000 feet, and got closer. Three white beams remained constant on the saucer but the colored lights rotated counterclockwise. He closed in at 500 mph but the object suddenly put on speed and disappeared. The ATIC summary, although placing confidence in Low's reliability, stated there was a great possibility he had been chasing the planet Jupiter. The official conclusion was that the object was probably astronomical. It may be assumed that Low and the other pilots relapsed into a disgusted silence.

ATIC IS REALLY baffled, however, by what are known as the Tremonton pictures. Shortly before noon in July a Navy warrant officer and his wife were driving seven miles from Tremonton, Utah, when they saw a formation of 12 or 14 bright objects maneuvering in the blue sky. The officer got out his 16-mm. camera, put on a telephoto lens and shot 40 feet of color film. He sent the film to Project Bluebook, the saucer investigation agency. The film was subjected to every test and fraud was completely ruled out. The conclusion: Unknown.

Of these and other unexpected phenomena, Chop says, "We just don't know." Even so, it seems to us the Defense Department should make public the classified information it's sitting on.

Big Meteor Colors S.F.

Sky Weirdly

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Bay area sky was streaked by a dazzling light early yesterday, visible for at least 100 miles and believed caused by a meteor of "once in a lifetime" magnitude.

Witnesses reported it variously as an exploding airplane or a flare sent up from a ship at sea.

But Dr. Otto Struve, head of the University of California Department of Astronomy, said the brilliant light probably was a "fireball." This is an unusually bright meteor which flares into a gigantic flame after crashing into the earth's atmosphere at a tremendous speed.

Persons as far away as Napa and Salinas reported seeing the phenomenon at about 12:15 a.m. Witnesses along the ocean coast in San Mateo said it seemed to disappear into the sea.

All witnesses agreed that the light was very brilliant but some said it was white. Others yellowish, and one said it had green tones. Several also said a discernible shock accompanied the flash, and Dr. Struve said such a shock could be expected. He explained:

"A meteor sets up an air wave when it travels through our atmosphere at 20 to 30 miles a second, causing a noticeable concussion. The friction set up when it leaves outer space and hits our heavier air also causes friction which sets it afire and makes a characteristic sound."

Persons who witnessed the display were asked to report their experiences to universities. Dr.

Struve suggested they communicate particularly with Dr. Frederick Leonard of UCLA, a leading authority on meteors in California.

Dr. Struve said that "ordinary" meteors constantly shower the earth but one of the intensity seen yesterday is witnessed only about once in a lifetime.

He said that meteors are fragments of stone or metal which travel around the sun in oval-shaped orbits. He added:

"One in a while such an orbit intersects with the orbit of the earth and a collision can take place when that occurs."

Virtually all witnesses indicated that the object vanished over the sea off the San Mateo coast, either plunging into the water or being consumed by its own heat.

ANOTHER 'MARS' SCARE Oct 7/53

'Outer Space' Hoax Disrupts Radio Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—A telephone caller claiming to be "from outer space" interrupted a local radio show this morning and sent the listening public into one of the biggest spines since Orson Welles' "Men from Mars" broadcast 15 years ago.

The caller's warning to "earthmen" to cease preparations for war "or your planet will be annihilated" sent hundreds of panicky listeners to their telephones to try to find out what they had heard. New York Telephone Co. officials immediately placed tracers on the call. Jinx Falkenburg and her husband, Tex McCrary, were interviewing Maj. Donald E. Kehoe (ret.) of the U.S. Marines about his new book on "Flying Saucers" on their breakfast show at the Waldorf-Astoria when they received the call through a hotel switchboard.

Kehoe immediately denied that he was in any way responsible for the call. McCrary assured radio listeners that he and his wife were not responsible. Kehoe's publisher also disclaimed responsibility.

Miss Fathenburgh answered but became too hysterical to converse with the caller. She inadvertently held the phone close to the microphone. Listeners heard a thickly accented voice speaking in rapid, grammatical English.

The caller said at first he was calling from a space ship over Los Angeles. He later said he was "now" over Salt Lake City.

The gist of the call was this:

"This is a voice from outer space. I warn you earthmen to stop talking about flying saucers, about bombs and preparations for war, for unless you learn to live in peace your planet will be annihilated. I know this because I am in a position to see you and you are not. I am reaching you with difficulty. You cannot see me, and you could not bear the sight if you did. It would

SUNDAY, AUGUST 9, 1953

"Our scientific preparations are complete, men... all we have to do is wait for a full moon so we'll have more room to land..."

Dick Tracy © 1953 King Features Inc.
All rights reserved.

SENATE IS WARNED ON SAUCERS IN SKY

Henry J. Taylor, Nominated as Envoy, Finds Reports of Sightings Disturbing

BY RUSSELL BAKER

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4 —

Henry J. Taylor, the Administration's newly appointed Ambassador to Switzerland, has cautioned the Senate not to laugh off reports of flying saucers.

About 10 per cent of the saucer reports, Mr. Taylor told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggest to him that there is something disturbing and mysterious going on in the heavens.

His testimony was given Wednesday in closed session and released today.

The committee also released the testimony of Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, the State Department's foremost student of Soviet affairs. He is being transferred from Moscow to Manila.

Mr. Bohlen, the testimony shows, confessed a general ignorance of the Orient and said that his only experience of the Philippines was a week's stopover there in 1928 when he was a seaman on a merchant ship.

Nominations Approved

Mr. Taylor is an independently well-to-do writer and broadcaster who was formerly sponsored by General Motors Corporation. He has had no diplomatic experience. His and Mr. Bohlen's nominations were approved by the Foreign Relations Committee and are expected to pass the Senate without trouble.

Transcripts of the hearings show that committee questioning in each case was cursory. Senator Homer E. Capehart, Republican of Indiana, for example, wondered if Mr. Taylor would look up the German-Swiss family of the Capehart who emigrated to the New World in 1731.

Senator H. Alexander Smith, Republican of New Jersey, wanted to know why Mr. Taylor had studied at the University of Virginia instead of at Princeton.

Mr. Smith also asked about re-

'Difficult to Deny'
He has not "the faintest idea what is happening," Mr. Taylor said, "but it is very difficult to deny that something is happening around us that we just don't quite understand."
 About 90 per cent of the sightings reported are "ridiculous, or publicity seekers, or sober-minded people with photographic and other evidence" who have sighted objects, he said. "Something is apparently happening in about 8 or 10 per cent of these sightings in various parts of the world which is not clear. I just don't think that we know all the secrets of the universe yet."

In answer to other questions, Mr. Taylor said he thought he was qualified for the Ambassadorship because he had studied and written about the Swiss economy, spoke French and could read "a little German."

Green Voices Misgivings
 At the Bohlen hearing Senator Theodore Francis Green, Democrat of Rhode Island and committee chairman, again voiced misgivings about transferring an Ambassador from a country he understands "thoroughly" to one with which he is "unfamiliar." In his twenty-eight years in the foreign service, Mr. Bohlen testified, his work has been exclusively in Europe except for nine months of pre-Pearl Harbor duty in Japan and six months' internment there after World War II began.

"I can't claim that I developed any profound knowledge of the Orient," he said.

He has had no experience of China, he added, and spoke no Spanish though the wide use of English in the Philippines would probably preclude a language problem.

Senator William F. Knowland, Republican of California, defended the transfer on grounds that it was "extremely important" to have "a trained and able foreign service officer" in the Philippines at this time.